

Survivor Voices of Human Trafficking
Biography
Tina Frundt

Tina Frundt is a survivor of domestic minor sex trafficking. She now dedicates her life to helping women and children heal from domestic sex trafficking and commercial sexual exploitation. In 2008, she founded Courtney's House, one of the first service providers dedicated to helping victims of trafficking. She also trains law enforcement and other non-profit groups to help and provide resources to victims. She is a member of both the Washington, D.C. Anti-Trafficking Task Force and the Prince George's County Human Trafficking Task Force. In 2010, she was awarded the Frederick Douglass Award by Free the Slaves, an anti-trafficking NGO. The award is given to an individual who has survived slavery and is using their life in freedom to help others. In December 2015, Tina was named to the United States Advisory Council on Human Trafficking, where she has served for six years.
